STATE-OF-THE-ART FACILITY FOR DOGS IN TRAINING

The newly renovated Leader Dogs for the Blind building in Rochester Hills, Michigan is adorned with 150 Stonewood Exterior Architectural Panels. Installed on the large soffits, the panels accent the beautiful, new Canine Development Center, an addition to the existing building

After three years of planning, and meeting with industry experts, the $14.5M center will offer state-of-the-art space for leader dogs in training. The center features 255 dog suites, separate puppy and breeding areas, a centralized vet clinic, and a lobby with a puppy viewing area.

WHY STONEWOOD?

- Cladding Built to Last: Non-porous, easy to clean, high impact resistant
- Straightforward Installation and Attachment: Uses non-proprietary exposed fastener systems (exterior) or threaded fasteners (interior), on-site fabrication options
